1 . Japanese Course Registration Rules

- All GLA students, including near-native speakers of Japanese, are eligible to take Japanese courses. Details of procedures vary depending on the placement level.
- Information about the course registration schedule and course details are available on the actual semester timetable on the GLA website.
- Students must check their placement level. It will be sent to their university email by the start of regular course registration.
 - *(for Fall 2024 new students) Until your university e-mail address is issued via Rits-Mate, we will send a notifications to your personal e-mail address.
- “Auto” in the “Registration” line means auto-registration by the GLA Office if you complete required procedures by the deadline.
“Self” means students are responsible for dropping for the course.

1. Japanese Course Registration Rules

[Course Sequence]

- In principle, students must pass the initially-placed course to move on to the next level. If they fail, they are to retake the same level of the course.
- Students will not be permitted to register for lower-level courses after their successful completion of higher-level courses.

[Course Drop]

- Students can drop Japanese language courses by themselves on GLARS regardless of the course level.
- Course drop procedures and schedules are the same as other non-Japanese courses. Refer to the Course Registration Guidebook for more details.
*(for Fall 2024 new students)
The detail of how to drop and use registration system (=GLARS) will be explained at the new-student orientation on September 17, 2024.
- If you drop a Japanese Language Course but want to reinstate it, you must submit the course registration form to the GLA Office. within the appropriate registration periods. Therefore, consider dropping carefully.
