

Japan's National Institute for Defense Studies Special Seminar

Date:

13:00-14:30 Nov 14, 2024

Place: KS306 (Koshinkan)

Compellence and Nuclear Weapons: A Study of Conditions for the Success of Proactive Nuclear Threats

Speaker: OHNISHI Ken

OHNISHI Ken is Senior Fellow at the National Institute for Defense Studies (NIDS), Ministry of Defense, Japan. His main fields of research are compellence/coercive diplomacy and peace operations. He received his BA in International Relations from Ritsumeikan University in 2008, Master of Public Policy from Kyoto University in 2010, and PhD in Politics and International Studies from University of Leeds in 2021.

Defense Industrial Strategies: Why It's Gaining Attention and Where It's Headed

Speaker: KIYOOKA Katsuyoshi

KIYOOKA Katsuyoshi is a Research Fellow at the National Institute for Defense Studies (NIDS), Ministry of Defense, Japan. His research deals primarily with questions of works on defense industries and defense technologies. He holds his BA in International Relations from Ritsumeikan University in 2021, M.A. in Media and Governance from Keio University in 2023.

Admission Free

They are RU
graduates!

主催: 立命館大学国際地域研究所
: 立命館大学大学院国際関係研究科
: 国際人口移動時代における寛容な社会創出プロジェクト
(アジア・日本研究推進プログラム)

Inquiries:
kenadach@ir.ritsumei.ac.jp