

Symposium Held on “The Development of Postwar Japan–Korea Relations and Future-Oriented Global Cooperation”

On June 12, 2026, the Center for East Asian Peace and Cooperation Studies at Ritsumeikan University and the Institute of Japanese Studies at Kookmin University jointly hosted the symposium “The Development of Postwar Japan–Korea Relations and Future-Oriented Global Cooperation” at the Conference Room of Soshikan Hall on the Kinugasa Campus of Ritsumeikan University. The symposium was supported by the Korea Foundation (KF).

The symposium opened with welcoming remarks by Professor Yuo Nakato, Director of the Center for East Asian Peace and Cooperation Studies; Professor Yoshio Nakatani, President of Ritsumeikan University; and Professor Heesik Choi, Director of the Institute of Japanese Studies at Kookmin University.

Mr. Yukio Hatoyama, Former Prime Minister of Japan

Researchers from Japan and Korea engaged in lively discussions on the current state and challenges of bilateral relations, as well as the prospects for peace and cooperation in East Asia. Participants exchanged views from a wide range of perspectives on the future of Japan–Korea relations and regional collaboration.

The symposium brought together a diverse audience, including researchers, students, and members of the public, providing a valuable opportunity to deepen mutual understanding and academic exchange between Japan and Korea.

The Center for East Asian Peace and Cooperation Studies will continue to promote research and exchange activities that contribute to peace, cooperation, and mutual understanding throughout East Asia.
